INTRODUCTION

The Karl Llewellyn Papers are situated in the Library of the University of Chicago Law School. A general description and evaluation of the collection and bibliographies of Llewellyn's published and unpublished works are to be found in The Karl Llewellyn Papers by William Twining (University of Chicago, 1968). This guide has been prepared as a supplement to that work. The Collection has been divided into 26 major categories, each of which is symbolized by a letter of the alphabet. Within each section, except C, there are sub-divisions designated by Roman, then Arabic numerals, (e.g. A.II.3). Section C, which contains transcripts of recordings of lectures, is arranged in accordance with the listing at pp. 14-15 infra. Many of the folders contain cards giving cross-references to other parts of the collection, but these do not purport to be exhaustive.

Application for permission to consult the Collection should be made to the Law Librarian of the University of Chicago, from whom copies of the Regulations governing use of the Llewellyn Papers may be obtained. It should be noted that material in section X (confidential) will not be available for consultation prior to 1988 and that access to Section R (correspondence) is restricted.

Thanks are due to the following for assistance in the preparation of this guide: Ulrich Drobnig, Edmund Kitch and James M. Ratcliffe.
